who has persuaded English capitalists to invest so heavily in this country, tells why he did, and speaks of his success in this direction. He says England and Ireland are full of wealth which is seeking paying investments.

NEW YORK, July 21 .- Where does all the money come from and who are the people investing so many millions of dollars in various industrial enterprises in the United States recently consolidated under extensive corporations?

This question was asked of Mr. Isaac Untermeyer, the counselor in the Stewart building. He was the pioneer in getting English capitalists to acquire large properties in America, and his experience has been of much interest. So many stories have been told within the past year of British gold being sent over here to buy up breweries, manufacturing institutions and what not that people have become mystified and somewhat incredulous. When Mr. Untermeyer was asked if it was true that large English investments had been made in the United States he replied that he knew where $17,000,000 in cold cash had been placed within a twelvementh, and that the work of organizing new companies was still

"I wish to correct one false impression however," said he, "and that is in the formation of trusts. The English investors are not going into trusts at all. They are simply organizing corporations which purchase profitable enterprises. There is a large amount of capital seeking investment in England. Its aggregate would seem enormous to us, and my attention was first directed to the fact about a year ago, when I learned that the English Government had decided upon refunding British consols at 214 per cent.

dispatcher's office of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in this city to see if the operators there would kindly try to either confirm or disprove the report.

The train dispatcher, getting a moment's "let-up" on his regular duties, obligingly called the Confluence operator, asked him what he knew of a Pittsburg murder out there, and got word back that there really was one, and that the body of the young man, Scott by name, would reach this city on the passenger train at 6-20 o'clock this morning.

Aston ishing bush for stock.

"It struck me that the volume of capital seeking investment would be likely to be largely augmented by the reduction in the rate on consols, and my associates and my-self determined to float a joint stock company for the purpose of buying and running a few American breweries. Thus the formation of the New York Brewery Company followed, and has almost become a matter of history. This enterprise was well placed in London, and was a great go from the start, but the most astonishing fact about it was that stock to the amount of $35,000,000 was subscribed for when the capitalization was only a mere matter of $4,500,000. Nearly eight times the amount asked for was offered, and the shares were allotted prorate to the bidders.

the Frank Jones Brewing Company, which took in the Portsmouth and Boston ale breweries of ex-Congressman Jones, of New Hampshire. This has a capital of about $6,500,000, but double the amount was bid, such was the universal desire to secure the shares. The United States Brewing Company, with a capital of about $5,500,000, included breweries in Newark, New York and Albary and all the stock was taken in included breweries in Newark, New York and Albany, and all the stock was taken in a day or two, which shows the confidence felt in England in safe and profitable joint stock concerns. Besides, the system of floating a new company in London is more complete and satisfactory all around for the legitimate enterprises which have merit. In the first place, under the companies' acts and the limited liabilities acts, we must senate a few or hank or remarkable and cure a firm or bank or reputable and wealthy person to engage in the underwriting of the proposed scheme and to enter into a guarantee that after a certain fixed date all the stock left unsubscribed for will be taken by this guarantor. This is to insure taken by this guarantor. This is to insure the speedy organization of the company. In most of the corporations formed there are issued ordinary shares, preferred stock and mortgage debentures, and after the prospectuses are distributed a certain day is fixed to receive applications for the stock, etc., and the whole amount is sometimes taken in 24 hourse at these companions. taken in 24 hours. Of course all these com-panies must have directors in England and

"The largest single stockholders in these Anglo-American enterprises are the venders, the original owners, who are allotted in most instances one-third of the number of shares. We found that subscriptions for stock in our companies came from neople in London, Liverpool, Manchester, Glasgow, and in fact every part of the island. The prospectus of each enterprise was advertised in the newspapers in the ordinary way, and the freedom with which applications for shares came in by mail showed that millions of pounds steriling must be actually hoarded by the great middle classes of England. For years railway shares have been popular for investment, but of late manufacturing enterprises, breweries, telephone and electric lighting companies have gained in favor, and if any scheme can be shown to be sate and to pay a profit of not less than 5 ber cent yearly, it can be floated without difficulty in London.

The capitalization of the Great Bass and Guinness breweries and the formation of companies to conduct the bus-iness have proved so completely successful and profitable that the Irish people have confidence in well conducted enterprises of that kind. Therefore when my brother looked about in Dublin and Belfast he soon found that there were millions of money ready for investment at any fair rate, or to take the ordinary risks of joint stock companies. Thousands of Irishmen who have saved up various sums stand ready to go into industrial enterprises with cash in hand. "The English nation appears to be made up largely of money savers and they ex-

About Female Gamblers.

In betting on the race tracks, women, as a rule, are more superstitious than men, and re-sort to all sorts of queer tricks that they think will bring them good luck. One young woman was recently seen to press her money to her lips just before parting with it, another would not pass her money over the shoulder of the woman in front of her because she said it would bring in front of her because she said it would bring her bad luck, one woman would not place her own money, but got a friend to do it for her because she lost on the first race and that presaged losing on every race if she did the betting herself. One big fat woman pulled out a dirty little cotton hag of something about the size and shape of a chicken's heart and rubbed it on her money just before she bet it, and a young girl, with a dissipated look, wearing a stylish striped gown, would touch her money with her left hand because that was her money hand and made more come.—N. The Ex-Hoosier Manager Very Forcibly Criticised.

HE WAS TOO READY TO TALK

Gloomy Cranks at the Home of the Cleveland Babies.

A CHARGE AGAINST JIMMY GALVIN

It is Claimed That He is Playing for His Release,

NIMICE'S OPINION OF SPALDING'S PLAN

(CORRESPONDENCE OF THE DISPATCH.) INDIANAPOLIS, July 21.-The resignation of Frank Bancroft as manager of the local ball team, and the appointment of Jack Glasscock to take his place, has been the chief baseball topic of the week. By many the retirement of Bancroft is considered a good thing for the Hoosiers, while others regret to see him go. There is also much speculation as to the wisdom of placing Glasscock in charge, but, in view of the fact that Bancroft has shown no special ability, and has had poor success with the team, the majority seems to be in favor of a change, and the new manager will be given every encouragement by both the press and public.

The manner in which Mr. Bancroft left the service of the club placed him in rather an unfavorable light, and lost him some of his warmest supporters. The first indication that the local people knew that he intended to resign was when they read it in the papers, he having given it out in Washington, from where it was telegraphed all over the country.

BRUSH FELT HURT. Though these dispatches were sent on Friday night of last week. President Brush did not hear a word from Bancroft until Monday evening, when his letter was received. Brush was way of doing business, and was not slow about way of doing business, and was not slow about accepting his resignation. He felt that the proper thing for Bancroft to have done was to notify the directory and not the Associated Press agents. He, however, says that he has implicit faith in the late manager's honesty of purpose, and thinks he did the best he could. Bancroft's chief fault is his desire to talk, and since the Hoosiers have been doing so poorly he did a great deal in that line, much of it being foolish and harmful to the interests of the club.

A HARD LOSER. He was very much opposed to the classifica-tion system and talked of it freely among his players. He is a hard loser and would often do hings while broken up on account of defeat that he would not have done under other circuinstances. With a winning team Bancroft would be a success, but with a poor one he could not be called a good manager. It is his intention to quit baseball. He remained with would be a success, but with a poor one he could not be called a good manager. It is his intention to quit baseball. He remained with the team until the close of the New York series, when Glasscock took charge.

President Brush will go to Chicago to meet the club and give the new manager a good start. The arrangement with Glasscock is for the season, and it is thought that he will make an extra effort to pull the team out of its present rut. It is more than likely that Glasscock will get better work out of the team than Bancroft did, for the reason that the players have frequently expressed a desire to have him placed in charge, and said they would do all they could for their captain. The only thing to be feared is that he will not be able to keep the men straight off the field. If he succeeds in doing this he will, no doubt, he a succeeds in other respects. The management will give him all possible support and will probably leave the team entirely in his charge. It will be remembered that the place was offered Glasscock last spring, and he wanted it, but a question of salary interfered and Bancroft was secured.

AN ABSURD REPORT. The absurd report that the Indianapolis they were not paid off was greatly magnified. This report led to another to the effect that the club was not in good financial condition. This was also absurd and calls for no extended contradiction. The men were not paid off in Bostradiction. The men were not paid off in Boston simply because the club was to be home on the 25th and the management thought the men could get along until that time. Manager Bancroft was instructed to advance the players all the money they needed and did so. That was all there was in it. The club is not required to pay while the team is away from home and the management has been doing so simply to accommodate the men. President Brush has not yet expressed an opinion of the Spalding scheme and will not until he looks the matter over thoroughly. I think, however, that it will not meet the approval of the Hoosier President. He is for classification first, last and all the time, and as Spalding's plan interferes with his pet scheme it will probably not be favorably considered.

ABOUT THE BABIES. Gloom at Their Home-McKenn May Play

To-Day. SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE DISPATCH. CLEVELAND, July 20.-Gloom has settled tike a dark, thick cloud over the Forest City. You can cut it with a knife. No need to ask "why?" The record of the Cleveland bail club for the past two weeks speaks for itself. They had climbed so high in the League race, and aroused such fond hopes and aspirations that | His Erratic Work Gives the Brooklyns the sudden decline was heartrending in the extreme. And, as usual, those who talked londest, and had figured them out sure pennant winners, were the first to cry "I told you so" when disaster came. Local patrons can take defeat neither gracefully nor philosophically. They are not stoical. And this, after their tree years experience in the Association. They do not take into consideration the fact that the boys have been playing the strongest clube in the country, and away from some at that, nor do they make allowance for some year, "wellow" unniving which has mark. some set that, nor do they make allowance for some very "yellow" unpitring, which has materially assisted in the downfall, but instead they throw up their hands like a tenderfoot and cry. "They have struck the tobog." If said toboggan is anywhere near as long as the faces in this section the club has got about a mile further to go.

But wait until the boys return home and win for causar. The all will be changed. The

But wait until the boys return home and win a few games. Then all will be changed. The estawhile ghoulish slide will be transformed into a magnificent roller coaster on which the boys will be going up, up, up, and the loud hosannas from Learue Park will float out o'er Lake Erie's placid bosom as before.

Shortstop McKean did not complete the Eastern trip with the club. He appeared upon our streets early in the week. Suspended without pay for insubordination tells the story. McKean is a great player, and his services are needed at the present time, but discipline must be maintained at whatever cost. Better a nine of 'mistia' under perfect discipline than an aggregation of stars with insubordination in the ranks. McKean will probably resume his position with the club Monday.

Everybody was glad to hear about Tebeau's great hit in New York. Not merely because it was a home run, but because he got $100 for knocking the ball over a fence which the vain Gothamites imagined no one but Roger Comer could do. Then 'Patsy.' to show it was not an accident, a sort of 'Gentle Jeems' entsode, occurring but once in a decade or so of years, rapped out another in Philadelphia, and was presented by Manager Loftus, a la Davidson, with a $100 cheek on a

SPALDING'S PLAN.

Opinions of the Lengue Presidents on the Proposed Scheme. Now that there has been time for the officials of the various League clubs to think over the plan of Mr. Spalding almost all have expressed an opinion regarding it. The general opinion is favorable toward it. President Reach, of Philadelphia, thinks the plan a good one, and one that will work well. Mr. Reach says, however, that the plan will need considerable pruning to put it into prac-tical shape. President Robinson, of Cleveland, is in favor of the plan, with one or two modifications.

President Hewitt, of Washington, thinks the plan impracticable. Mr. Hewitt believes that the only solution of the difficulty is the equal plan impracticable. Mr. Hewitt believes that the only solution of the difficulty is the equal division of receipts.

President Nimick, of Pittsburg, said: "There are many good features in Mr. Spalding's project. I am in favor of doing away entirely with the buying and selling of players. If we cannot do this, however, I think the next best thing would be to give the player a fixed percent of the purchase money, say about one-quarter, letting the other quarter to the association and the half to the club. About the requisition for players from the minor leagues I am not so sure. It might be a good thing for the big organizations, but I would rather not express an opinion on that at present. There is one thing in its favor: It would be an incentive to the players to do their best, in order to be drafted in the bigger leagues, and the clubs and associations would receive a cash equivalent. The suggestion for a Board of Appeals, a Supreme court, as it were, is a good idea, and I would strongly favor it."

President Brush, of Indianapolis, has no definite opinion to offer. Nor has President Soden, of Boston. New York, however, is in favor of the plan. Altogether, it seems as if a big change in the League constitution will be made before next season opens.

I do not make these statements to ruin their reputations as ball players, but when I see such players as these trying to deceive the management and public it is about time to put a stop to such proceedings. Captain and Manager. SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.1 LOUISVILLE, July 21 .- A very important change in the club, which was decided upon at the stockholders' meeting Friday night, was the stockholders' meeting Friday night, was and may not win one.

The Traction Stars beat the Shadyside Stars on the ground that the shortening of the game to six innings by agreement was illegal, it is contended that the game cannot be shortened in view of the rules, and under President Young's ruling some years ago that when two games are played in one afternoon the first one must consist of nine innings. If this is sustained Boston will lose a victory, a very important matter in this close race.

Cannot Get Glasscock.

Boston, July 21.—The Boston Baseball Club has sold the release of Pitcher Sowders to the Pittsburg club, and has offered the Indianapolis club a money consideration, or twe of its tain. Like the sensible ball player that he is, he understands the wisdom of the change, and no man in the team will work harder for Shannon than his predecessor. Shannon will receive his instructions to-night and will make his debut as captain of the club in Tuesday's game at Baltimore.

It is understood on good authority that the new manager whom President Parsons has encaged for the Louisville club is Jack Chapman. Nearly all the directors wanted him and a proposition was made him, which he eagerly accepted, saving ne always wanted to come back here. He cannot quit the Syracuse club before the end of the season and will not come here until next fall. He will have exclusive control of the club and receive $2.50 a year. In the meantime a temporary management will the meantime a temporary management continue. Mr. Robert Brown, city edite the Courier Journal, will take charge of club on the present Eastern trip.

SELF-SUPPORTING BASEBALL. A Scheme Formed by Manager Hart at Mr.

Spalding's Request. PERFORAL TELEGRAN TO THE DISPATCH. Boston, July 21.-Manager James Hart, of the Boston club, has, at the request of A. G. Spalding, formed a plan to make baseball a self-supporting pastime, not only in the large but in the smaller towns. The plan is this: A board of control should be created, with full and supreme power. It should with full and supreme power. It should have three members under salary. The board should keep recoris of all games and players, to be furnished monthly to the clubs. It should name the limits of salary for each league and approve all contracts between players and clubs, leagues and umpires. It should decide all disputes finally. The expenses of the board and stenographer are estimated at $13,200 per annum. All clubs under the control of the board should be allowed to reserve players under contract on a certain date, say October 1, at a price not less than that received by the player under the existing contract. All players who do not receive the full amount of salary called for in their contract should be granted a release of their claim to that effect if sustained by the board. Any club under control should be compelled to release to any other club under control when paid a certain price (as shown later.) as a bonus, provided said player desires to change his place of service. The bonus should be uniform in each league, but may be changed from year to year by the board. The matter of releasing and signing of players should be done wholly by the board. The matter of releasing and signing of players should be done wholly by the board. The Mational League, at the head, includes Boston, New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Chicago, Pittsburg and Cincinnati. The National League should be granted the right of reservation, but a player upon being in one club's employ three years should, if he desires, be granted his unconditional release. This league should have no salary limit law. The other leagues should be granted during a playing season. National League guarantee to visiting clubs, $200; percentage, 40; number of games, 146; admission, 50 cents. Hart claims his plan would make the clubs pay, reward worthy players and prevent strikes.

clubs pay, reward worthy players and preven Association Record.

THE SEWICKLEYS MAY GO.

Rumor That They Will Leave the County League.
It is likely that more clubs will follow the example of Emsworth, and withdraw from the County League. Last evening a player in one of the clubs stated that the officials of the Sewickleys expressed themselves yesterday to the effect that they are tired of the business. The club is losing money, and it is probable that it will not finish the season. The Oaklands are also about exhausted.

If the clubs named withdraw from the League, the balance will continue through the season. The dates will be filled up with exhi-

THE DETROIT MEETING. Prospect of an Extraordinary Opening Day To-Morrow-Big Entries. DETROIT, July 21 .- The great trotting and pacing meeting of the Detroit Driving Club commences Tuesday, the 23d inst. There are 129 commences Tuesday, the 23d inst. There are 123 entries in the various classes, and as fine a lot as ever were brought together at a trotting meeting. Every State in the Union is represented by one or more flyers. The track is in magnificent condition. Electric bells have been placed in the judges' stand, communicatbeen placed in the judges of the purpose of calling up the horses, instead of the old way of ringing the bell or tapping the drum.

All the horses that are entered are here and more, and everything is in readiness for the opening day, which will be called Blue Ribbon Day when the gates will be thrown open to the public free. President Campau will ring up the horses Tuesday at 2 o'clock P. M. for the first grand event, the 2:3 trot. There are three events for the opening day—two trots and a pacing race. These are 18 entries in the first, 18 in the second, and 14 in the third. If good weather, it will be by long odds the greatest event ever given under the auspices of the club. club.

Johnston, the great pacer, will give exhibitions during the meeting. The great $10,000 stake race, with 15 nominations, takes place Thursday. Prominent horsemen from all parts of the country are here. A big attendance at the meeting is assured. Guy, the great wonder, will give an exhibition one day during the meeting.

Don't Fancy the Mutuals. Hon. James White, the great Australian sportsman, doesn't believe in the parl-mutuel machines. He says: "I generally bet £500 on a race, or say £3,000 a day. Take a low compua race, or say £3,000 a day. Take a low computation of 60 days' racing in the year, and you will see that my transactions would be £180,000 per annum. Ten per cent on that business would bring me £18,000 a year, without any risk whatever. I'd be glad to bet three per cent. The machine plays to a dead certainty, whereas a bookmaker takes heavy risks. He may win to-day and lose to-morrow. Very few, indeed, of the Australian ring make more than a living, as a proof of which I need only ask you to tell me how many of them are rich men. The fortunes made by bookmaking in these colonies are few and far between."

Will Fight for a Stake. Young Corcoran, the local lightweight pugil Young Corcoran, the local lightweight pugilist, is in receipt of a letter from Dayton, O. The letter is from some sports of that place, who state that Bezena, of Cincinnati, will fight Corcoran at Dayton for a $150 purse. The Pittsburger, however, declines to fight for anything less than the purse mentioned and a stake of $200 a side. If these terms are agreed to Corcoran will fight the Cincinnati man to a finish.

DETROIT, July 21.-Jack Burgess, the well-known prize fighter of New York, who reently defeated Ed Smith. of England, at Denver, arrived here this evening for the purpose of training for a fight with Johnny Connelly, of Ohio, for $1,000 a side. The articles were signed last week, and the fight is to take place August 2. The ring will probably be pitched near the Ohio border.

Wise Mansfielders Not Arrested. WHEELING, July 21.—Mansfield refusing to play with the home team to-day, a picked nine was made up, who were defeated by a score of 18 to 7. After the first ball was pitched the teams were arrested by Justice Phillips as on last Sunday, and bond was given for the appearance of the mend to-morrow.

Will Come to Pittsburg. H. O. Messier, the pedestrian, arrived in the city yesterday. He has won two or three good races in Maryland, and is on his way to manage a hig six-day race at Detroit. Messier states that all the leading pedestrians in the country intend to start in the fall race in this city.

A TERRIBLE REPORT.

Due Young East Ender Said to Have Been Shot and Killed by Another Near Configence-Particulars Menger by Telegraph. About 2 o'clock this morning THE DIS-PATCH received word, indirectly, but on seemingly trustworthy authority, that a homicide had been committed yesterday at or near Confluence, about 85 miles just above Ohio Pyle; that both the victim and his slayer were young men from the East End in this city, and that they went a few days ago to Confluence as members of a hunting or fishing club. At the hour named there was no means of direct telegraphic communication with Confluence, nor was there the possibility of a train arriving until long after daylight with all the particulars of the all directions.

Laird, however, only became the more excited when he saw the startling effect of his threats. Revolver still in hand, and uttering various expressions of vengeance, he closely pursued the group, in which a young neighbor named Scott was a central figure, and one of the Scott was a central figure, and one of the very last to run. Approaching close to Scott, Laird showed such a dogged determination as to force Scott, in self-defense, to exchange shots with him. This, however, did not check the infuriated young gunner. He fired three shots at Scott, it is alleged, and killed him outright with the third bullet, which took effect in the back and have no connection with each other.
